For patients who need to have a catheter fitted, the big issue is confidence – the confidence to do all the things they're used to doing. As specialists in urology products, we've spent a lot of time listening to clinicians, understanding what's best for them and their patients, and developing products that offer the performance, precision and comfort that instil that all-important confidence.

Supporting Patients

Each Ugo Urology product is purpose designed to minimise the risk of infection and trauma, improving patient outcomes, and reducing associated costs.

And we don't just make the products. We also provide training and education to ensure nurses and carers feel confident when using the Ugo Urology range – and patients feel safe if they have to use the products themselves. Our training materials include patient and carer user guides which give clear instructions on how to attach, remove, change and care for Ugo Urology products to minimise the risk of infection, and we're always here to offer more help if clinicians or their patients need it.

A fifth of all infections acquired in UK hospitals involve the urinary tract. 80% of those are linked to urinary catheters¹.

Catheter associated urinary tract infections (CAUTI) cost the NHS £99million per year, that's £1968 per episode².
